Restful Routes:

Representational State Transfer is referred to as REST. We use a practice known as RESTful Routing to implement it in our routes. RESTful routing is a set of guidelines used by several programming languages to build reusable and efficient routes. The main goal of this strategy is to establish a typical correlation between CRUD operations (Create, Read, Update, Delete) and normal HTTP methods (GET, POST, PATCH, DELETE). As a result, this makes easier for the developers to understand and navigate in the application.

Some of the RESTful routes used in this :

- Route name: Index
URL path: /trades
HTTP method: GET
Purpose: Displays the list of the trades page.
- Route name: New
URL path: /Trades/New
HTTP method: GET
Purpose: Creating a new trade form .
- Route name: Create
URL path: /trades/:id
HTTP method: POST
Purpose: Creates new trade object.
- Route name: Edit
URL path: /trades/:id/edit?
HTTP method: GET
Purpose: Can make changes to the trade object.
- Route name: Update
URL path: /trades/:id
HTTP method: PATCH
Purpose: Updates the changes of the trade object.
- Route name: Show
URL path: /trades/:id
HTTP method: GET

Purpose: Displays all the trade objects in the trade's pages.

- Route name: Delete

URL path: /trades/:id

HTTP method: DELETE

Purpose: Deletes the specific trade object.

- Route name: login

URL path: /users/login

HTTP method: GET

Purpose: login to the authorized user account.

- Route name: Signup

URL path: /users/new

HTTP method: GET

Purpose: Signup form for the new user account.

- Route name: Profile

URL path: /users/profile

HTTP method: GET

Purpose: Displays the user account profile.
